LIVES GIVEN AWAY IN A BURNING MINE

THIRTY-SEVEN MEN KILLED IN OREGON.

Employes Trying to Extinguish a Fire Are Suffocated by Gas—Four Killed and Eleven Injured In a Similar Way In Pennsylvania—Record of Fatalities.

TACOMA, Wash., Aug. 25.—Thirty-seven miners of mixed nationalities were killed yesterday afternoon by an explosion in the Oregon Improvement company's coal mine at Franklin, King county, thirty-four miles southeast of Seattle. The miners were trying to save the mines from destruction by fire when the explosion occurred. Those who rushed to the gangway when the fire was discovered escaped.

Several of those caught were not instantly killed and a desperate attempt was at once made by their comrades to rescue them from the flames. The entire mining community of Franklin aided to flood sloop 62, in which the bodies of the miners lay.

Franklin is a coal mining town on the west slope of the Cascade mountains, and the usual heartrending scenes were enacted about the entrance of the mines when a list of the killed and missing miners was made out. This is the mining district into which colored eastern miners were brought two years ago, resulting in a running fight with the strikers and several deaths. Negro and Swede miners predominate among those killed. Most of them have families.

Those who remained to fight the fire were first attracted by thin clouds of smoke issuing from the bottom of slope or level 62. Believing the fire could be extinguished without much damage or loss of life resulting from an explosion they set fearlessly to work to locate and extinguish the incipient blaze. Instantly after the explosion occurred the flames burst out from the bottom of the level and advanced rapidly upon the maimed and imprisoned miners.

When the bodies of the dead miners were reached many were found to be in line, as if simultaneously overcome by stifling smoke. Some had been smothered and were not cut or even bruised. All were dead before assistance reached them.

Many of the men in the gangways, suspecting what was coming, rushed back to notify the miners further in that a fire was burning, while others rushed out and reached the main shaft. It is certain that all the men in the breast reached the gangway in safety. In all about seventy men were at work in the sixth level north, and of that number about forty lingered at breast 62, where the fire originated, and made an attempt to put out the fire. The breast was burning fiercely, and before the miners knew it the fire had communicated to breasts 60 and 61 and smoke began to issue from breast 61 in that immediate vicinity. Several of those who lingered at the burning breast 62 took warning and fled, but all who remained were overcome and asphyxiated.

It is evident all the men had time to get out, for those who worked in the further breast reached the shaft in safety, while those who were nearest the shaft and consequently more removed from danger, perished. They evidently believed they were in perfect safety from the fire, but while they lingered the smoke oozed out from the outside place further south and the bodies were all found south of breast 62. They were all found within a space of 500 feet.

Rescuers went down from the surface and found the body of the first man in the gangway about 1,000 feet in from the slope. The arrival of this body on the surface was the first intimation to the men, women and children there that any one had met death. Consequently when the body was carried away there was a wild scramble to discover its identity. When it was found the rescuers were besieged with questions from mothers, fathers and children concerning loved ones who were imprisoned. But their questions were only answered by an ominous shake of the hand.

At 3 o'clock the last of the thirty-seven bodies was recovered and then the people began to quiet down. Many of them were completely prostrated with their violent grief and devoted their time to methodically caring for the dead.

All day long the little telegraph office was besieged with sorrowing people sending messages to relatives living in other parts of the country notifying them of the grief which has so suddenly befallen them.

The origin of the fire in breast 62 is supposed to be due to spontaneous combustion caused by refuse and screenings in the bottom of the breast slacking and catching fire.

Superintendent Ramsey says he will bulk the sixth level and perhaps the fifth level and hermetically seal them, thus shutting off the air and smothering the fire. It is believed in three months the fire will have become completely extinguished.

EXPLOSION IN A COLLIERY.

Two Men Killed and Eleven Injured by Ignition of Gas.

ASHLAND, Pa. Aug. 25.—Two men were killed and eleven injured by an explosion of gas in the Gilberton colliery near this place yesterday afternoon. The explosion, which occurred shortly after noon, was primarily caused by a fall of coal, which became dislodged by the mining operations. This released an immense volume of gas and at the same time forced it along the gangways to a distance of more than 1,000 yards, stifling and choking the miners as it swept along. Finally it reached a gang of miners who were working with naked lamps and instantly ignited. An explosion, which shook the earth and was heard by the people in their homes above, followed. Flames and smoke burst from the mouth of the pit and inside and out there were scenes of frantic terror. Rescuing parties were organized and the men brought to the surface as rapidly as possible. The mine in which the explosion occurred is the property of and is operated by the Reading Coal and Iron company.

McFadden; auditor, J. W. Wilson; Treasurer, John H. Powers; attorney-general, John O. Leiser; commissioner public lands and buildings, S. J. Kent.

The platform demands the free and unlimited coinage of silver and gold at the present ratio of 16 to 1, denounces the unconditional repeal by congress of the purchasing clause of the Sherman act, wants irrigation of arid and semi-arid lands. It goes on: "We demand a liberal service pension to all honorably discharged Union soldiers and sailors of the late war. We declare for municipal ownership of street cars, gas and electric light plants, and water works. We demand compulsory arbitration of all controversies between employers and employes. We demand a more economical administration of our state government and more strict accountability of money appropriated and expended. We demand that all offices, both state and county, be paid a reasonable salary in accordance with labor to be performed and the amount of skill required, and that all fees be turned into a general fund for state and county purposes. We demand that immediate steps be taken for relief of the drouth sufferers of the state and that some means be devised to give them employment and wages.

RAILROAD ROBBERS KILL TWO POLICE

BANDITS BOARD A C. M. & ST. P. TRAIN.

After Killing a Detective Whom They Find In the Caboose They Fight Their Way Through a Circle of Officers and Make Their Escape—Tramps In a Fight.

CHICAGO, Aug. 29.—The robbers who entered the freight train caboose at Deerfield, on the St. Paul road, last night, shot and killed Detective Owen and robbed him and the conductor, were surrounded in the woods by the police today. They shot the Mayfair village watchman and in their skirmish with the police, one policeman was killed and another seriously wounded. The robbers also beat a farmer and stole his team. When the two robbers entered the train last night both wore masks. The brakemen were well toward the engine, which was in charge of Engineer Pritchard, and only the conductor, Sargent, and the road detective, Owens, were in the caboose.

The masked men entered the door and covered the conductor and detective with their revolvers. The detective sprung for his rifle, but before he could reach it one of the robbers shot him through the breast. The conductor threw up his hands and the robbers who had done the shooting went through his pockets, taking his watch and a small amount of money. They then escaped. A special train carrying a number of special officers of the road was sent out at midnight to run down the robbers if possible.

BUFFALO, N. Y., Aug. 25.—Sheriff Taggart, with a posse of twenty-five men, assisted by fifteen policemen, made a raid on Count Rybakonski's army yesterday afternoon, because it would not move out of the county. The count will be held to the grand jury on the charge of assault in the second degree. He was badly bruised in the scuffle and over twenty-five tramps received scalp wounds from policeman's clubs.

TO KILL HIPPOLYTE.

It Is Thwarted by the Sweetheart of One of the Assassins.

NEW YORK, Aug. 25—A special from Kingston, Jamaica, says:

"News has reached here from what has hitherto proved a reliable source that an attempt was made a few days ago to assassinate President Hippolyte of Hayti. The attempt, it is said, was made one evening while Hippolyte was on his way to his country residence, a few miles from Port au Prince. Twenty-four men, armed with pistols, stationed themselves along the road which the president was to take, and, according to arrangement, the first shot was to be fired when the intended victim had reached the center of the line; escape would then be rendered almost impossible.

"A woman was responsible for the failure of the plot. One of the would-be assassins told his sweetheart of the conspiracy and she gave a hint to one of Hippolyte's generals. The consequence was that on the evening in question the president set out from Port au Prince with an extra strong bodyguard, while a squad of soldiers went on ahead to search the woods. Several ambushed men were caught and placed under arrest, but the rest eluded pursuit. Only two were bold enough to carry out the original plan. These got close enough to the president to fire, but both bullets missed."

CONGRESS TO ADJOURN.

Tuesday Will Mark the End of the Present Session.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 25.—Congress will adjourn on Tuesday next at 2 o'clock. The house adopted a resolution to that effect yesterday and the senate passed it as soon as it was sent over. The adoption of the final adjournment resolution is considered positive proof of the President's intention to let the tariff bill become a law without his signature. Without such proof Speaker Crisp would not have sanctioned the resolution. A whisper has it that Mr. Crisp was told by President Cleveland that he would ignore the bill, and not only let it become law without signature, but would not send any message or take the slightest cognizance of it.

DUN SAYS TRADE STILL WAITS.

Forward Movement Soon to be Commenced --Failures for the Week.

NEW YORK, Aug. 25.—R. G. Dun & Co.'s Weekly Review of Trade says:

Changes during the last week have not been definite nor very important. As the President's final decision regarding the new tariff is not yet certainly known part of the hesitation which appears may be attributed to the longer uncertainty which must soon terminate. The injury to corn is less than many apprehended, but it is still believed to have reduced the yield about 500,000,000 bushels. The strike of coke workers and coal miners has ended, and while the lockout of cotton operatives is important it affects the earnings and livelihood of a much smaller number.

In all the great industries some increase in demand for products has appeared. A moderate increase is seen in the woolen mills in operation, and agents who have offered spring goods, generally at a reduction of about 12½ per cent from last year's prices, have taken orders for considerable quantities.

About 1,600,000,000 bushels is now the more common estimate of the yield of corn, which will leave nothing for export, and, falling below a full supply for feeding, will materially affect prices of meats for the coming year. Wheat has been stronger, in spite of such favorable reports that a yield of 500,000,000 bushels or more is now commonly expected. Receipts of the west for the week were 4,964,228 bushels, against 2,724,240 last year, and Atlantic exports only 1,437,435 bushels, against 2,059,427 last year. Hog products are only a shade stronger, cotton fell a shade, mainly on account of curtailment of consumption by the strikes, but recovered. Accounts from the south continue to promise a yield considerably larger than that of 1893.

The liabilities of firms failing for the second week in August amounted to only $1,613,369, and for the last three weeks to only $7,262,076, of which $2,633,209 were of manufacturing and $3,787,329 of trading concerns. The failures this week have been 234 in the United States, against 410 last year and 29 in Canada, against 20 last year.

MAKE THE ROADS PAY.

Indiana Tax Commissioners Refuse to Lower Assessments.

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind., Aug. 25.—After weeks of fighting between the state tax board and a score of railroad attorneys in behalf of the eighty railroads in Indiana subject to taxation the tax commissioners gave out last night their final decisions showing immaterial reductions in the assessment per mile on twenty-two companies out of eighty. The leading railroad companies have been unable to furnish evidence that would induce the board to reduce their assessment. The result will be almost equal to last year's total assessment of $159,248,873, which figures were upheld by the Supreme court in passing on the new law that provided for actual valuation for taxable purposes.

CHINESE ROUT THE JAPS.

Thirteen Hundred of the Mikado's Men Killed at Chemulpo.

SHANGHAI, Aug. 25.—A letter from Chemulpo, Corea, received at Che Foo, reports that nineteen Japanese warships and thirteen transports arrived in the Tatung river Aug. 18. They landed 5,000 men, who, proceeding inland, were attacked by 1,000 Chinese cavalry, who succeeded in dividing the Japanese force into two parts. The Chinese artillery, located on an eminence, poured a heavy fire into the ranks of the Japanese, making great havoc. The Japanese were compelled to retreat to the seashore, where the guns of the fleet prevented further pursuit by the Chinese. The Japanese loss is reported to have been over 1,300 men.

Many Thousand Acres Reclaimed.

ST. PAUL, Minn., Aug. 25.—It is stated by President Valentine of the Red River valley drainage commission that many thousand acres of land which have heretofore been considered worthless have already been reclaimed and are now worth from $10 to $12 an acre. He says the plans of the commission when completed will add at least half a million acres to the rich agricultural lands in the Red River valley.

HARRISBURG, Pa., Aug. 25.—The Pennsylvania Steel company will soon engage 1,000 workmen in addition to the 3,500 men now employed. The increase in force has been made necessary by the receipt of a number of orders which will keep the works busy for six months or longer.

FAMILY DROWNED AT AN OHIO FORD

EX-COMMISSIONER PARRETT LOSES HIS LIFE.

Wife and Two Children Carried Down to Death With Him In Attempting to Cross the Sioto River—Family In Texas Wiped Out By Lightning.

PORTSMOUTH, O., Aug. 25—Ex-County Commissioner Parrett, his wife and two children were drowned while attempting to ford the Scioto river this morning.

COLUMBUS, Texas, Aug. 25.—A terrific thunderstorm near here nearly wiped out a family of movers from Rodgers, Bell county, Texas, named Hillyard, bound for Jackson county. They had four wagons and teams and when about four miles below town a bolt of lightning struck the front wagon, which was occupied by Mr. and Mrs. Hillyard and a baby, killing the father, mother and two horses. The baby was in the lap of the mother but escaped uninjured.

ONLY FORCE USED AT CHICAGO.

General Manager Egan On the Great Strike—He Couldn't Talk of Peace.

CHICAGO, Aug. 25.—The General Managers' association, represented by General Manager John M. Egan, submitted its views of the strike to the labor commission yesterday. He was interrogated rather sharply by Commissioners Worthington and Kernan and the situation was quite interesting at times.

"Did you have anything to do with the selection of men to act as United States marshals for the railroads?"

"Each company appointed one of its own officers to select men to be sworn in as deputy United States marshals. These names were sent to me and I sent them to Marshal Arnold. Then the men were sworn in as marshals."

Mr. Egan went on to say in response to questions that he understood that the railroads were to pay the wages of the deputy marshals of this class employed on their respective roads. Engineers and firemen were sworn in as marshals "to give them an opportunity to protect themselves against parties who might attack them or interfere with them." No reports were made to Mr. Egan by those marshals, but he supposed they were engaged in the protection of mail trains and interstate commerce.

"Did the American Railway Union give the general managers any notice of their intention to strike?" asked Commissioner Wright, "or was there any attempt made to settle this matter amicably?"

"The first thing I did when I came here was to ask whether any efforts had been made to settle. One day some one called me up on the telephone and said he was Alderman McGillen, that he was at the mayor's office and that the officers of the American Railway Union were there. He asked me if I would meet them to talk over a settlement. I replied that I had no authority to act for the general managers. The next day Mayor Hopkins and Alderman McGillen came to the office of the General Managers' association and presented a document purporting to come from the American Railway union. I told Mayor Hopkins that I thought he ought not to have permitted himself to be made a messenger boy by those people. I advised Mr. St. John not to receive the document. It was left, however, and the the general managers prepared a letter to the mayor declining to receive the document. I took it to the city hall and gave it to the chief of police with a request that he place it on the mayor's desk."

"Was the document offensive or discourteous to you?" asked Commissioner Worthington.

"Well, it was printed in the newspapers and it speaks for itself. I thought that for a lot of men who were fighting the railroads and had been whipped it was a pretty piece of cheek on their part to attempt to dictate the terms of their surrender."

"But would it not have been well if there could have been an amicable settlement of so great a matter?"

"I considered it settled."

Isaiah Campbell, a contractor and builder who lives in Kensington and who has within the last ten years performed considerable work in his line for the Pullman company, was then called.

Mr. Campbell considered the morals of Pullman about the same as that of other towns. Real estate values in the vicinity have declined within the last two years. As to the value of Pullman property no estimate could be made because none of it was for sale. Mr. Campbell estimated the value of the houses in Pullman which rented for $18 a month at $1,500 to $1,800.

Fashion Closes a Factory.

ALLENTOWN, Pa., Aug. 25.—Yesterday the City Button works shut down for an indefinite period, paid all its employes and dismissed them. The works will be kept closed until the fashion for wearing fancy buttons is inaugurated again. Proprietor Liebman said: "Buttons have not been worn to any extent by women during the last year, and the outlook is so poor for next year that it does not pay us to keep open our works." The works gave 500 persons employment.

WOOL COMES DOWN WITH GROVER'S AID.

ROCK COUNTY FARMERS FEEL THE PINCH.

Drop of Two Cents in the Last Week—A Year Ago Medium Washed Stock Brought Twenty Cents—Now the Best that Is Paid Is Fourteen Cents.

As a result of the Wilson tariff bill, there has been a drop in the price of wool during the past week. Medium washed wool has already come down a cent a pound, farmers now getting 14 and 15 cents per pound. Coarse washed has fallen two cents, 14 and 15 cents per pound now being paid. For coarse unwashed, 11 and 12 cents are now being paid, or a decrease of a cent during the week. The men who buy most of the wool from farmers in this vicinity say that very little is being brought in at present, and they expect very little this fall. For the past year the wholesale price of wool has been gradually falling, and it is claimed that this decrease has injured the sheep raising industry of this section considerably—nearly one-half of the farmers having disposed of their sheep so as not to run the risk of low prices on their wool.

One year ago the price paid for medium-washed wool was twenty cents, or six cents more than is paid at the present time; coarse washed sold for 18 cents per pound or 4 cents less than at the present time. Fine washed brought as high as 18 cents per pound a year ago, where now the highest price paid is 14 cents. Coarse unwashed, which has brought as high as 15 cents a pound, now brings 12 cents. Fine unwashed brought 12 cents, and now it can be obtained at 6 cents. It is expected that within a few weeks prices will be still lower.

GOOD DOCTRINE FOR HARD TIMES.

Keep Cool and Don't Act the Fool is This Man's Doctrine.

EDITOR GAZETTE:—Hard times demand lots of good hard common sense and here are a few splinters:

Do not whine about starving when you can buy five glasses of beer a day or smoke five nickel cigars a day.

Wear your old coat if it is a little rusty; no one will think less of you if they have any brains.

Knock off little luxuries; your health wil be the better for it. Too many of our wants are purely artificial and add but little to solid comfort.

Do not curse the best government in the world because it has fallen into bad hands.

Do not curse the present administration for you were not satisfied and wanted a change. If you don't like the change let the law run its course and vote the other way next time.

If out of work hunt for a job. Since jobs will not hunt for you. If you don't find it the first day turn up fresh on the trail next morning.

If business is dull enliven it by a little individual enterprise.

Be thankful day by day to the Almighty that you live, love and are loved. If you don't enjoy these blessings it is your own fault.

Don't croak about hard times. We all have them and will be better when we recover.

Laugh if it comes out as dry as last winter. In time it will become normal and shape your lives as of yore.

Do not scold your best friend on earth and call her extravagant until you have cut off all your own sensuous pleasures. When you have all these amputated gently hint to her that she looks best in a dollar hat. She will not agree with you—notwithstanding the fact it is often so—but she will wear it to please you. But be very mild in approaching so delicate a subject.

Hard times are especially rocky on a street corner. It is the poorest place on earth for contentment.

It is cowardly to give up. Hard times are a seive which separates sensible people from fools and those of tender hearts from those of hearts of stone. Keep sweet, hustle around, and trust in the Lord and you will at one be in the vicinity of contentment.

Do not be thankful that you are not as other men, but that you are as other men, and that you are suffering with them. You want to be human and humane.

If we are kind, true, honest, courageous and love our neighbors as ourselves, we can be happy in spite of hard times, hence richer.

Don't abuse the wealthy, for many of them won it legitimately, and you would do the same if opportunity came your way.

Monopoly is domineering and hard to bear, but there are lawful and orderly methods of curbing this oppression. By resorting to illegitimate methods we make ourselves what we condemn in the monopolist.

Keep cool and you will not act the fool. Yours in a hard row. C. B.

Baking Powders.

From the Journal of Applied Chemistry.

We have a poor opinion of baking powder in general, and believe them to be an invention of the enemy. It is for this reason that we can commend in the highest terms, the phosphate baking powder of Prof. Horsford. The article is all that it is represented to be by the inventor, and it ought to be everywhere introduced on sanitary grounds, and on account of the increased nourishment it imparts to the flour. When flour is bolted, the bran and much of the phosphorus and nitrogen is removed and lost. Horsford's powder removes these elements and serves to make the bread light as well as nourishing.

DETECTIVE INGALLS TURNS UP.

Janesville Man Was Not the One Who Was Doing Police Work.

When word was sent to Chicago that Thomas Ingles, of 428 Madison street, had been killed in a wreck police officers concluded that the dead man was Detective Thomas Ingalls, of 427 Madison street. The detective returned to his home yesterday and found his wife mourning him for dead. The confusion was easily explained. The former Janesville man, a paper hanger by trade, lived directly across the street from the detective. The sad part of the incident is that while the wife of the detective was weeping for joy over the safe return of her husband, the wife of the other Ingalls had just learned of her husband's death and was weeping from grief. The detective had been away for a few days on a case and the paper hanger had been traveling around the country looking for work.

CENTER CROPS ARE ALL GOOD.

Farmers Are Happy—Cattle Disease Spreading—Plum Thieves at Work

CENTER, Aug. 24—It can truly be said that Center is the banner township. Crops are all extra good considering the dry season; oats going from 45 to 75 bushels per acre; some early pieces of tobacco promises well; corn ditto. John Crow and his estimable companion will soon visit his native state, Ohio. Mr. Crow is the oldest of the early settlers left in the town and hopes to live to help elect another republican president. Will Howell and sister Emma are spending a fortnight in Iowa with relatives. Mr. Howell may not return as single as he left home. William Samen the manager of the Short Horn Dairy farm, will black the eyes of the cherubs who stole his plums if he finds them. Fred Vankirk and six of his partners are enjoying prosperity, the creamery interprise being a grand success financially. The cattle disease in Center seems to be spreading. Walkins Davis has just returned from an extended visit through the east and says he has witnessed enough democratic government and if God will forgive him he will never vote another democratic ticket. C. C. Fisher, wife and daughter are basking on the banks of the River Rhine and expect to visit all the eastern continents before they return. Tobacco harvesting has commenced in earnest and some right good crops are secured. The best musicale literary entertainment ever rendered in Center will be given next Thursday night at the Disciple church. Those who will take part are Eulalia V. Cornelius, Annie E. Tennent, Myrta Williams, Mrs. Henry Dickenson, Miss Snyder and the Third Ward Mandolin club. If Thursday night is stormy a concert will be given Friday night.

Janesville campers, who make up a colony of fifty people when the Lake Geneva season is at its height, are to be evicted. For fifteen years the colony has been located at Fontana Park, new members being added and old ones dropping out. This year the pleasures of tent life were tasted by Mr. and Mrs. E. Leavitt, Col. W. B. Britton and wife, Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Ashcraft, Mr. and Mrs. J. L. Ford, Mr. and Mrs. M. G. Jeffris, Mr. and Mrs. S. B. Smith, Mrs. Pliny Norcross Mr. and Mrs. H. F. Bliss and numerous others who made briefer stays. Last evening they were notified that Fontana Park had been sold and that possession would be given May 1. A. E. Verback and three other Chicago men are the buyers. They got seven hundred feet of lake frontage and paid $42,000. The property comprises twenty-seven acres and includes all the buildings except three cottages. Four handsome private residences will occupy the ground. David Porter will have charge of the grounds this winter and will have everything cleared off by spring. An effort is being made to lease ground for a Janesville camp across the lake.

THAT AFFAIR AT FOOTVILLE.

G. D. Silverthorn's Version of the Boycott on Postmaster Dennis Ryan.

EDITOR GAZETTE:—In the Gazette recently there appeared an article relating to some trouble at Footville in regard to mailing Congressman Linton's sectarian school speech, and later there appeared a letter signed by Dennis Ryan apparently denying the charges made in the previous article. In the first place Ryan states that Garlick received no packages of speeches. That is true. The speeches were sent in bulk to R. O. Shaw, and it was understood by the parties who were interested in getting them that they could be remailed free of postage expense. Ryan first declined to remail them on the ground that they were not entitled to free mailing unless re-franked, and afterward ruled that Mr. Shaw could mail them but no one else. As this seemed an untenable position for Ryan to take, postal clerks and other postmasters were consulted and all declared Ryan wrong in such ruling. It was taken up with the proper authorities, with the result mentioned in The Record's article of the 7th inst. In his letter to the Record Mr. Ryan said: Who is Garlick? He is one of those poor, deluded mortals who have been boycotting this postoffice since March 1, 1894, because I, the postmaster, am a catholic, and not only boycotting catholics but protestants as well who would not dance to their music" He also says: "There is not one word of truth in the charges against Postmaster Ryan." There are two sides to nearly all questions, and this is certainly no exception. "Who is Garlick?" It seems to me that question is easily answered. Mr. F. M. Garlick is station agent at this place for the Chicago & Northwestern railway. He is twenty-five years of age and has been in the employ of the same company for over eleven years. January 4, 1893, a camp of the Patriotic Order Sons of American was organized here, and Mr. Garlick took an active part in the work, since which time he has been the subject of repeated persecutions at the hands of the enemies of that order. Immediately after the Patriotic Order Sons of America was organized, and it was discovered that I, a merchant and grain and coal dealer, was a member of that order, my catholic customers paid their bills and promptly discontinued patronizing me, with the exception of one or two. This was of course, a boycott on my business. The customers whom I lost gave their trade to another, who while a protestant, refused to join the organization. No one attempts to maintain that my opponent in trade was exceeding the proper exercise of his rights when he declined to join the organization, but he certainly made a serious mistake when he refused to support the cause of his own customers after acknowledging that he had "nothing against them." The final result was that my sympathizers, after reasoning with my opponent at considerable length, gave me their trade in exchange for what I had lost. The result is that I have a better trade than ever before. These are the facts about the alleged "boycott" of protestants. There has been no boycott by protestants on catholic business men to my knowledge, and I do not believe in the boycott. It is an un-American institution.

Ryan now poses as a martyr and as the subject of an unjust "boycott." He has had the alleged "boycott on the Footville post office" investigated by the post office inspector, and after the facts were related to that officer he gave me to understand that, under the existing circumstances, he did not blame me in the course I was pursuing. One citizen here, who is a member of no "brigade," was asked if he "boycotted" the post office because Ryan was a democrat. He replied that he did not. The "boycott" is claimed to have been investigated by the "A. P. A.'s" and "P. O. S. of A.'s" who, I understand, constitute the so-called "dark-lantern brigade." I know positively that many people who are members of neither one of the above societies, and some who are members of his own church, will not give Ryan the cancellation privilege on their mail. It can be further confidently asserted that this community would respect and patronize any other reputable and respectable democrat as postmaster, be he catholic or protestant. The whole trouble in regard to the remailing of the speeches is simply the outgrowth of Ryan's antipathy to anything leaning toward A. P. A.ism. I have always been a democrat, so there should be know political differences between us.

"BLIND PIG" MEN HID IN BELOIT.

Two Men Wanted By the Sheriff By Marshal Appleby.

A constable from Milton visited Beloit in search of two men named Fulton and Daggett, who were under sentence for selling liquor illegally. Several weeks ago these men were heavily fined at Milton for selling liquor illegally, and the sentence was suspended for a given time to enable them to raise the money and keep out of jail. The time for the fulfillment of their agreement with the court passed and, the men having left the town, an officer was dispatched to the Line City in search of them. He made his want known to City Marshal Appleby and the marshal quickly located Fulton and Daggett as employes at the Eclipse works.

FOUR CASES BEGUN AGAINST ONE PIG

THE CRITTER IS BLIND AND A WOMAN OWNS IT.

Ellen Shafer In the Toils of the Law—She Has Escaped Many Times But the Authorities Now Think They Have a Good Chance of Securing a Conviction.

Ellen Shaffer of Orfordville, is again in the toils of the law. During the present week she has been made to answer to four separate charges of selling liquors without a license. These four charges were brought before Judge J. W. Sale of the county court for investigation, and the judge held the defendant in each case to appear in the circuit court in November, bail being fixed at $200 in each case.

Mrs. Shafer has been before the courts many times during the last year and a half to answer or defend herself against similar charges. On one or two of these charges conviction followed.

"I think we have got her this time," remarked a court officer this morning. We have got testimony that will surely convict her on each charge, and I think Ellen will soon realize that she can not run her "blind pig" at a profit much longer."

FOUL MURDER BY TRAMPS.

They Kill Conductor Groggan Near Jefferson Junction.

Richard Groggin, a freight conductor on the Northwestern railway, was brought to Madison fatally injured and died at 6 o'clock yesterday. Groggan conversed with a brakeman at Jefferson Junction and was missed by the trainmen when the train reached Lake Mills. The train was backed to the Junction, where Groggan was found by the track unconscious from injuries. There were tramps on the train when it was at the Junction, and some were seen afterwards, and the trainmen believe the conductor got into a row with them and was thrown from the moving train. The deceased lived at Baraboo.

WE—

We met, he held my hand
And would not let it go;
I cannot tell how long we stood there,
In fact, I do not care to know;
We were together, and that was all
Either cared for at the time;
I smiled in his dark eyes,
While "he" smiled in mine.

We did not seem to have much to say,
Our thoughts, they were so sweet;
Until at last he dropped my hand
And knelt down at my feet;
I tremblingly looked at his dear form,
Implored him to arise;
But he asked me several questions first,
And I gave some low replies.

O, love, love, love! an every-day tale,
But sweeter it seems to grow;
The oftener told the better it gets,
To say this one really must know;
At least, this one was the very best
That to me had ever been told,
And ere a year went slowly by
We were gathered within its dear fold.

An old farmer and his son called upon me the other day. The boy is about eleven or twelve years old, and a gawky, ugly dawdler. He wandered aimlessly about the office running the tip of his finger over the backs of my books. At last I asked: "Well, my boy would you like to be a lawyer?"

When Our Liver Reprimands Us

For our neglect of it by inflicting upon us sick headache, by dyeing the skin yellow, coating the tongue with fur, producing vertigo, pains in the right side and souring the breath, we are little less than lunatics if we disregard the chastisement. If we call Hostetter's Stomach Bitters to our aid, tranquility and health follow speedily, and with the departure of the symptoms mentioned, departs also irregularity of the bowels, which invariably attends disorder of the liver. In malarial complaints the liver is always involved, and it is a fortunate circumstance that this fine anti-bilious medicine is also the finest specific in existence for every form of malarial disease. Nor is it less efficacious for dyspepsia, failure of appetite and strength, nervousness and a rheumatic tendency. It renews the ability to sleep, and greatly promotes convalescence after wasting diseases.

BISHOP NICHOLSON'S VIEWS.

Letter In Reference to the Approaching Harvest Festival.

Bishop Nicholson has prepared and is sending out to the clergyman of the diocese copies of a special office for the harvest home festivals. The services will be held in the different churches mainly on the second Sunday in September, though the day is optional. Offerings will be sent to the clergy house as usual. In his instructions to the clergy with reference to the services, Bishop Nicholson remarks: "The table may be decorated with grapes and sheaves of wheat in addition to the usual floral decorations, but do not make the altar or any part of the sanctuary look like unto a market garden or a vegetable stall with, apples, corn, potatoes and other fruits piled on high after the crude fashion of some. These offerings may well be brought to the church as offerings of first fruits and distributed to the poor or lovingly devoted as gifts for the domestic use of the clergy, but they are not fitting for the altar or the font, or any of the more venerable parts of the sanctuary."

Be Careful About Your Hat.

The top of you is most evident. People look first and longest at your face and head. If you wear an ill-becoming, battered or out of fashion hat everybody that sees you sees it.

The Miller hat is a forerunner of eastern style. The best dressed New Yorkers wear no other brand. Its quality is as good as its shape is graceful. Today we began showing the fall styles. If you care for appearance you cannot afford to overlook it. T. J. ZIEGLER, Clothier and Hatter.

Excursion Will Be a Big One.

SOME WELL KNOWN FACES

He Was Once an Oil King.

When Coxey's commonweal army passed through Pittsburg on its way to Washington, an ex-millionaire marched afoot at the head of the motley column as its escort. The ex-millionaire was Samuel Duncan Karns, familiarly known as Dunc Karns. Now the Populists for the Twenty-second Pennsylvania district have nominated Karns for congress. Karns "struck it rich" in the oil regions, and in 1873, when oil was $2.50 a barrel, he had one well producing 2,000 barrels a day. Besides this he had a number of other profitable wells, and his money soon ran into the millions. When he came in contact a few years later with the Standard Oil company, he was crushed and today is a poor man.

SAMUEL DUNCAN KARNS

BULL'S UGLY RUSH MANGLED BEESLEY

OLD MAN NEARLY KILLED IN A PASTURE.

While Leading a Cow He Was Knocked Down, Three of His Ribs Broken and His Left Knee Dislocated—His Injuries Not Thought to Be Fatal.

George Beesley, seventy years old, was all but killed by a bull on his farm near Emerald Grove today. Mr. Beesley was leading a cow through the pasture where the bull was kept and was thrown down, his knee dislocated, three ribs broken and his head badly cut. While he lay on the ground the bull stepped on his head and a moment later crushed in his side. His knee was so badly dislocated that the ends of the bones were driven six inches past one another. Dr. Metcalf of this city, cared for him and says that the patient's chances for recovery are good.

Dr. H. A. McChesney, Janesville, Wisconsin.:

Dear Sir:—As you know I began treatment two weeks ago for a deafness of ten years' standing caused by a catarrhal stoppage around the ear, creating a continuous ringing noise that made it impossible to hear or catch a sound at any considerable distance. In that brief space (14 days) I find myself so greatly relieved that in going to church yesterday and occupying a pew in the rear, I was surprised that I could hear distinctly every word from the pulpit, a blessing that I have not enjoyed for years. I join most heartily in recommending your Catarrh Cure to everybody afflicted with catarrh in any form, and particularly of the head and throat, and advise them to try your medicines, as they will certainly find immediate and sure relief, and I firmly believe a a permanent cure.

Your friend and well wisher,
OSCAR COBB.

TO MIDIA.

In that dear country which men call,
With somber phrase, "your pretty face,"
There is no spring, there is no fall,
And biting winter finds no place.
One light, one warmth, one tender air,
One endless summer harbors there.

In that dear country, side by side,
There be two placid lakes that sleep,
'Twere worth a kingdom to divide
Each gay, unfathomable deep,
And daring all things to possess
The secrets of your soul's recess.

In other lands 'tis passing sweet
To watch the whispering western wind
Go ruffling all the whitened wheat
Nor leave the tiniest track behind,
To see the wanton wavelets rear
Their crests along the grassy mere.

So does the zephyr of your smile
Lead on its fairy footed dance
From end to end of that dear isle
And dimples all the fair expanse,
And stoops its course and floats and flies
In ripples o'er your laughing eyes.

A CHANGED CRITIC.

Mr. Aubrey Everdene looked out upon Sackville street and yawned. Only an instant before he had written "finis" to a magazine article with a dash of the pen across the last sheet, and now the MSS. lay ready for the post among the debris of printer's proofs, new novels awaiting review, etc., with which the writing table was strewed.

One of the best known litterateurs in London and a brilliant conversationist, his tongue could be as scathing as his pen, and it was said of him, with regard to the latter weapon of warfare, that in half a dozen polished sentences he could do more toward damning a book than any two of his compeers. A big, loosely made man was Mr. Everdene, with shrewd gray eyes and the pessimism of a modern. Studying his face as he lounged by the window, his hands in the pockets of his smoking jacket, one could see that he had a lively sense of humor combined with his other characteristics and understood the interest his personality aroused.

Presently a servant brought him a visiting card on a salver.

"The lady would be obliged if you would grant her an interview, sir."

"Lady Hilyard," muttered Everdene, reading the inscription. "I can't recall the name. Bother the woman! What does she want? However, ask her to come up, Blake."

When she entered, a fair, elegant woman of perhaps 25, in an irreproachable Parisian toilet, he was still more convinced that he had not the privilege of her acquaintance.

"Mr. Aubrey Everdene?" she queried.

Mr. Everdene bowed.

"Pray take a seat, madame."

"No," she said. "I have come to quarrel with you, and I don't sit down in the houses of my enemies!"

"To quarrel with me!" His eyebrows went up. The thought came to him that his visitor was not in her right mind.

"Yes. Perhaps I had better explain myself at once. I am the author of 'Fashion and Footlights.'"

Mr. Everdene, standing perforce because she would, pulled his mustache, while the fair stranger tapped her No. 3 shoe on the carpet with impatience and looked pitchforks and daggers.

"'Fashion and Footlights,'" he reflected aloud. "'Fashion and Footlights.' Ha!"

Comprehension stole over his face and with it a slight amusement. He fished among a pile of volumes and brought out three bound with an elegance destined to win the hearts of suburban circulating libraries.

"Here it is. Reviewed it in The Centurion, didn't I?"

"No," she said, "you hanged and quartered it!"

"I am sorry. May I ask how you found out that I was the culprit?"

"Oh, by accident. It's a long story and unimportant, since you don't deny the imputation. Now, Mr. Everdene, I know it is very impertinent of me, a stranger, to come to your private address and worry you. I am doing a very unusual thing, I am afraid, and Mrs. Grundy would be horrified. But 'fools rush in,' you know, and widows are privileged. You must have a little patience with me because"—for the first time her lips relaxed, and she smiled a smile that was sweetness itself—"well, just because I'm a woman and you're a gentleman. Acknowledge the truth, now, on your honor. Don't you think you were unnecessarily harsh to my poor little literary effort?"

"No," he said bluntly; "I always give my true opinion of things, and I consider your book had many faults."

If she had been a man, he would have said, "I thought it was —— bad," with the brusqueness of conviction and probably declined to discuss the matter, but to a lady it was impossible to be rude. He regarded her absurdly unconventional presence with a tolerant kindness.

"Of course, I admit that there are faults, but upon one or two points in your criticism I cannot agree with you. I should very much like to discuss them with you. May I?"

"Certainly." His mouth was twitching under his heavy mustache. "But don't you think, pending the verdict, that you had better sit down? You will be fatigued. If you'll permit me to wheel this armchair nearer the fire for you—so!"

Having carefully arranged it so that she should face the light, he seated himself opposite her—the A. B. C. of diplomacy, but she did not appear to notice it. She was drawing arabesques on the carpet with the point of her ivory handled umbrella.

"I should very much like to know," she said, "what you think of my coming here?"

"I think you are plucky—yes, and recklessly unconventional."

"Candid, at any rate! And I like that." She looked up. "Now for the first indictment on the list, Mr. Everdene. You accuse me of improbability. I deny it."

His manner bordered on preoccupation. In truth, he was thinking what wonderful lashes she had, and how becoming a flush of excitement could be to a clear, pale skin.

"You assert," she continued warmly, "that it is ridiculous to suppose that a man and woman of the world could fall in love at first sight, as I make my hero and heroine do, and that such proceedings are limited to boys and girls in their teens and the pages of penny fiction. I should have thought that Mr. Aubrey Everdene would have shown wider sympathies."

"Then you really believe, Lady Hilyard, that adult, sensible people conceive such abrupt attachments?"

"I am convinced that it happens frequently."

"Oh, come, not frequently?"

"Well, sometimes," she amended. "I could give you a dozen instances."

He lacked the heart to argue with her. It would have been like breaking a butterfly on a wheel. And, after all, there might be more sentiment in fin de siecle humanity than he thought. Women have wonderful intuition in these matters.

"Well, suppose we let that slide for the moment and proceed to indictment No. 2. What other phrase of mine do you take exception to?"

"You said that I had not the remotest idea of construction, and that 'Fashion and Footlights' was evidently a specimen of that objectionable class of fiction which you regretted to see was growing so prevalent—the amateur novel, born of vanity and a lack of wholesome occupation."

Her voice died away with a tremor. He had only stated the truth, but that fact did not prevent the speechless Mr. Everdene from feeling as if he had committed a particularly brutal murder and the ghost of the victim had come to arraign him before all the people whose opinions he valued most.

"I—I cried," she murmured pathetically.

Her lips quivered. Beads of perspiration rose to the man's forehead.

"Good heavens, if I had only guessed how much I should hurt you! It was harsh, monstrous. No doubt I was in a bad temper, and your unfortunate book was the first thing that afforded me an opportunity to vent my spleen."

Lady Hilyard applied six square inches of cambric and lace to the corner of an eyelid.

"If you'll only believe me, my dear Lady Hilyard, when I tell you that I'm sorrier than I can say."

"Then you acknowledge that you were needlessly cruel?"

"I was brutal." He would have committed blacker perjury as she wiped that tear away.

"And that I had just cause for indignation?"

"You were perfectly right."

A smile broke like April sunshine over her face.

"In that case, I suppose I must forgive you."

He was ridiculously grateful. He heaved a sigh of relief and hesitated, with his hand on the button of the electric bell.

"Lady Hilyard, you know the Arab custom of taking salt with one's friends? As a token of good will permit me to give you the prosaic English equivalent of a cup of tea."

The offer was tempting, the room was hot, and she had talked a great deal. She yielded—and more. When the refreshments came, accompanied by wonderful sweetmeats from Bond street round the corner, she asked permission to pour it out for him with a winning graciousness which charmed him. It afforded him an odd sense of pleasure, too, to see her white fingers moving about the china. He was unaccustomed to the presence of women in his home.

With the Japanese table between them, them chatted for awhile, and then the clock on the mantelpiece struck 6. She rose, with a pretty gesture of dismay, like a second Cinderella. "Do you know, Mr. Everdene, that I have been a whole hour wasting your valuable time?"

"I thought it had been 10 minutes," he answered, "and the pleasantest time of my life."

"Very pretty!" she said, blushing faintly. "And, in return for it, let me tell you my address is on my card, and that my 'day' is Thursday. Also I must thank you very heartily for your kindness and courtesy to an impertinent intruder. Very few men would have been so considerate."

"Please don't thank me. It is I who owe you a debt of gratitude. You have taught me something I never expected to learn."

"What?"

"That the conduct of your hero and heroine was not improbable at all."

Their eyes met. The woman's dropped, self conscious, pleased.

"You really mean that?"

"On my soul, I do."

The most delicious softness was in her voice:

"It makes me so proud and happy to think I have convinced you."

There was a silence. She smoothed a wrinkle in her suede glove. He twisted a button on his coat. Then she aroused herself, with a little laugh, and extended her hand.

"Well, goodby, Mr. Everdene, and once more, thank you."

He pressed her fingers ever so lightly—her proselyte.

"Not 'goodby,'" he murmured. "Au revoir."—Black and White.

She Pleased the Queen.

It is said that Miss Majendie, who has just received the much coveted position of maid of honor to Queen Victoria, owed her good luck to a mere freak of magnetic attraction. The queen saw her for the first time when she came to sing at the little Sunday service arranged by Princess Beatrice at the Villa Fabbricotti and was particularly struck by her pleasant face and sweet voice. It was with the utmost surprise that the court circle as well as the young lady herself learned of the honor designed for her.

PARISIAN IDEAS.

Dresses, Hats, Cravats, Bonnets and Veils of the Period.

The two choux which have been so popular a finish for the neck bands of crepe and mousseline de soie collars are giving place to small bunches of artificial flowers selected to match those trimming the hat.

Veils of net covered with a close pattern in application are the fashion of the moment. They almost hide the face from sight and are admirably calculated to conceal the ravages of time and the complexion specialist.

Parisian women favor white kid shoes with yellow leather trimmings, as well as the all white ones which have been so much seen here.

Guipure continues in general use and shows no sign of a decline in public estimation. It is always effective and may be even more satisfactorily combined with wool and velvet goods than with thin fabrics, so it will probably be one feature of fall toilets if not of winter ones.

The hat of the period is of ample proportions. There are a few close toque shapes consisting of flowers, jet and a bow of ribbon, but large hats are the rule. They are often made of shirred mousseline de soie or have lace brims, or a round straw shape is trimmed with choux of mousseline de soie and a flounce of the same material falls over the edge of the brim like a valance. With the addition of a bow of changeable ribbon, this style is considered altogether charming in Paris.

Immense white cravats of crepe de chine, mousseline de soie and similar fabrics are coming in again. They are sure to be well received, for they are almost universally becoming. Everybody acknowledges that a man looks better in evening dress than at any other time, because of the large expanse of white near the face, and the same principle applies to women in dark gowns. The big white scarf produces the same effect as the broad shirt bosom.

The illustration shows a reception bonnet of rosebuds, lilies of the valley and violets. It is trimmed with two jet wings and has no strings. The cravat is of cream mousseline de soie trimmed on the ends with antique lace.

Artificial flowers are more fashionable than ever, so much so that their popularity is said to have given renewed vigor to the business of making them.

JUDIC CHOLLET.

NECESSARY LUXURIES.

Relative Importance to Life of Sleep and Food.

The term "sybarite" has come to have a rather vague meaning in modern times and is generally applied to somebody whose pet indulgence is different from our own. As a matter of fact, it is a question whether it better describes the person who makes necessities of luxuries or the one who makes luxuries of necessities. One's sympathy is naturally more engaged by the latter individual, since as he—or she, for present purposes—must have necessities, she may as well have them of the best kind. There is something more reasonable in the idea that a woman demands the very best sort of bread and butter than that she insists that she cannot live without truffles and champagne every day. Bread and butter are necessities and truffles and champagne are not.

PEIGNOIR.

But the tending of these remarks is meant to be toward the subject of beds. Beds are a necessity, and too often a stern necessity, unyielding as fate. An astonishing number of housekeepers wear pretty clothes, set their table with pretty dishes and arrange an agreeable bill of fare for their guests, but condemn them to sleep on a mattress stuffed with iron filings and pillows like a dry meal poultice. The bed linen being fresh and an allowance of extra coverings being provided, everything is supposed to be satisfactory.

But it is better to have the guest's couch an uncomfortable one than that of a member of the family, which is occupied every night. The more tiresome and trying one's daylight hours are, the more one requires complete rest and relaxation at night on a bed that will not keep one awake with aching bones, and with pillows that are thoroughly substantial. We all know that sleep is more important to the preservation of life and health than is even food. Better is a dinner of herbs with a soft bed to retire to afterward than a stalled ox that must be digested on a couch of stone. The moral of this is: If you are a worker of any sort, with brain or hand, indulge yourself with a good spring bed and hair mattress even if you have to go without two new gowns to pay for them, for you need all the ease possible at night in order that nature may exercise her recuperative powers.

The sketch shows a peignoir of white percale trimmed with white embroidery frills. A band of beading threaded with lavender ribbon heads the ruffles.

JUDIC CHOLLET.

A NARROW ESCAPE!

How it Happened.

The following remarkable event in a lady's life will interest the reader: "For a long time I had a terrible pain at my heart, which fluttered almost incessantly. I had no appetite and could not sleep. I would be compelled to sit up in bed and belch gas from my stomach until I thought every minute would be my last. There was a feeling of oppression about my heart, and I was afraid to draw a full breath. I couldn't sweep a room without sitting down and resting; but, thank God, by the help of New Heart Cure all that is past and I feel like another woman. Before using the New Heart Cure I had taken different so-called remedies and been treated by doctors without any benefit until I was both discouraged and disgusted. My husband bought me a bottle of Dr. Miles' New Heart Cure, and am happy to say I never regretted it, as I now have a splendid appetite and sleep well. I weighed 125 pounds when I began taking the remedy, and now I weigh 150½. Its effect in my case has been truly marvelous. It far surpasses any other medicine I have ever taken or any benefit I ever received from physicians."—Mrs. Harry Starr, Pottsville, Pa., October 12, 1892.

Dr. Miles' New Heart Cure is sold on a positive guarantee by all druggists, or by the Dr. Miles Medical Co., Elkhart, Ind., on receipt of price, $1 per bottle, six bottles $5, express prepaid. This great discovery by an eminent specialist in heart disease, contains neither opiates nor dangerous drugs.

NOTICE TO CONTRACTORS.

Notice is hereby given that at a special meeting of the common council of the city of Janesville, to be held Sept. 4, 1894, at 8 o'clock p. m., said council will proceed to act in relation to the work mentioned in the foregoing specifications, the work to be completed by Oct. 1, 1894. Until the time of said meeting of the council, sealed proposals for the performance of said work will be received by the city clerk. The council reserves the right to reject any and all bids. By order of the common council.

GEO. H. BATES, City Clerk.

Dated Janesville, Wis., Aug. 25, 1894.

SPECIFICATIONS.

Specifications for grading, curbing and paving that portion of West Milwaukee St. in the city of Janesville, state of Wisconsin, between the east line of High street and the west line of Academy street, except so much of said street as is occupied by and lies between the track of the Janesville Street Railway Company including a strip on either side of said track one foot in width and adjoining the rails of said track on the outside.

GRADING.

Said street shall be graded so as to bring its surface at a uniform depth of eleven inches below the established grade of the same; and in doing said grading the earth is to be scraped off to the required depth so as not to loosen the soil below. Also in all places in said street where trenching has been done for water, gas, sewer pipes or connections of any kind, such places shall be made firm and secure against unequal settling. If any filling is done in bringing said street to this grade, it must be done with sand or gravel, free from all perishable materials. After the surface has been shaped to conform to the pavement above, it shall be thoroughly rolled or tamped to make it secure against settling; which having been done a ballasting of four (4) inches of clean sand or fine gravel shall be spread in such a manner that the sub grade of said street shall be uniformly seven inches below the grade thereof, said ballasting to be well rolled or tamped so as to make it firm. The cross section of each side of said street from the gutter to the street car track being shaped so as to form a segment of a circle whose radius shall be three hundred feet, and at the center of the street to correspond with the grade of said street; the gutters to be placed at such grade and depth not to exceed one foot as the city engineer shall direct, and shall be two and one-half (2½) inches deeper at a point one and one-half (1½) feet from the curb than at the curb.

The grading of said street and the ballasting thereof shall be done under the directions of and to the satisfaction of a special committee appointed by the mayor of said city.

All stone and block cross walks which shall be removed in grading said street and also all stone rubble and such gravel which is excavated in doing said grading and is not used in embankment shall be deposited for the use and benefit of said city by the contractor at such place or places, not more than two blocks away from the above designated street, as the aldermen of the First and Fifth wards shall direct, without extra charge.

The work shall be carried on in such a manner so as to impede and obstruct travel on said street as little as possible and yet be consistent with the speedy and economical completion of said work.

CURBING.

Curbstone is to be of good durable Waukesha limestone or other stone of equally good quality, free from seams, cracks or other defects not less than three feet long, twenty-four inches wide and four inches thick. The tops of said curbstones to be dressed to a true line and their face to be dressed to a depth of ten inches from their tops; the ends to be dressed to a depth of fifteen inches, so as to form close joints with each other.

Said stones are to be firmly set on their edges to conform to their alignment and grade given by the city engineer, and are to securely rest on a bed of fine gravel at least four inches thick, well tamped and to be thoroughly packed with sand or fine gravel at least four inches in width at their backs. New curbstones shall be placed only in such places as the special committee shall direct.

STRINGERS.

The surface of said street, having been brought to conform to the sub grade of the same; and having on its surface a ballast of at least four (4) inches of good clean sand or fine gravel, well and thoroughly tamped, there shall be laid at right angles across said sections of said street and at intervals of four feet apart, from center to center, good sound, well seasoned durable white pine stringers, one inch thick, eight inches wide and not less than sixteen feet in length. Said stringers shall be free from rot, sap, wind shake or other defects; they shall be well and firmly imbedded in the sand or fine gravel forming the ballasting so that the top surface of said stringer shall accurately conform to the sub-grade of said street. When said stringers are thus laid, the sand or fine gravel between them shall be carefully dressed with a straight edge, so as to insure that the top surface of the ballasting between the stringers shall present a smooth, compact and uniform surface, conforming to the sub-grade of said street, preparatory to laying the flooring.

FLOORING.

Resting on the stringers and the ballasting between them, shall be a flooring formed of good, sound green hemlock boards, free from rot, sap, wind shakes or other defects, one inch thick and from eight to twelve inches wide, and sixteen feet long; they are to be laid lengthwise of the street, in close contact, their ends be sawed off square so as to form close joints.

PAVING.

Between the curbing and on either side of said street and the track of the Janesville Street Railway in the center of said street; and resting upon the flooring prepared as above specified, shall be a paving of cedar blocks, which shall form the road-bed of said street. Said blocks shall have a uniform length of six inches, sawed from good, sound, live cedar posts, of from four to ten inches in diameter, free from bark, rot or other defects. They are to be placed on their ends upon the flooring in close contact with each other, and to be kept well driven up so as to form close joints and a firm road-bed. During the progress of laying the paving, blocks of different diameters must be so arranged and placed with reference to each other, as to leave the smallest practical space between the blocks. Spaces approaching a square form must be avoided, and no spaces of less than three inches in diameter will be allowed. All spaces between the blocks are to be filled with screened gravel of a quality, size and screening satisfactory to the above mentioned special committee appointed by the mayor of said city, the same to be thoroughly tamped with proper tools until solid, and refilled and retamped, until the spaces have been completely filled with firm and solidly tamped gravel. The whole work to be done under the supervision and to the satisfaction of the above mentioned committee. After the filling shall have been completed the top surface of the paving shall be swept off with a coarse broom, and left uncovered until it has been inspected and accepted by the special committee. After such inspection and acceptance, the paving shall be covered with fine screened gravel to a depth of one inch.

CROSS-WALKS.

There are to be four cross-walks at the intersection of West Milwaukee and High Sts., and 4 at the intersection of West Milwaukee and Academy Sts. Said walks shall be made by raising the pavement in the usual manner; three inches rise in the center of the walk, the same to be twelve feet wide and so constructed that the crown will be even and of such grade as directed by said special committee.

The street upon its completion shall be left free from rubbish and impediments of all kinds. That portion of said street adjacent to and adjoining this improvement, and those portions of cross streets adjoining the same, shall be left in as good condition as they were just preceding the commencement of the work herein specified.

All connections of the pavement with sewerage, gas or water openings shall be substantially and properly made, and the street upon completion shall have a uniform smooth surface, conforming to the final grade and crown of said street, and it shall be left by the contractor in perfect order and condition. It is expressly understood that the contractor shall not be entitled to any allowance on account of injury to said street, by reason of rains or otherwise, during the progress of the work herein specified; or before the same has been completed and accepted as herein stated.

It is further expressly understood that the price per square yard named in the contract for paving said street, shall cover the whole cost of grading, furnishing, preparing and laying the stringers, flooring and paving blocks as herein specified and contemplated, and that the price per lineal foot, named in the contract for curbing, shall cover the whole cost thereof, including the taking up and removing of the old curbing, where required, and the furnishing, placing, setting and properly securing in position new curbing as herein specified. No extra allowance whatever will be made.

These specifications are hereby declared to be a part of the contract for grading, curbing and paving said street.

O. G. BLEEDORN,
City Engineer.
